ABOUT ME

My name is Coenri van Rooyen, and I am a final-year BSc IT student at NWU in Potchefstroom with a strong ambition to become a software developer. I am passionate about creating effective solutions and possess several key strengths, including being a fast learner, a strong communicator, and an active listener. My commitment to continuous learning and improvement drives me to expand my skillset. In my personal time, I am dedicated to fitness, enjoy reading, and playing video games, with aspirations to explore hiking in the future.
